Central Board Hears Newburn Review Communication Set-Up

By JERRY HOLLORON

A power check on a new communication line between students and the administration was made last night by Pres. Harry K. Newburn, prior to a Central Board meeting.

The informal talk by the president was the first in a series of meetings between him and student groups. The meetings grew out of complaints last spring that communications between the administration and students were inadequate.

Discussion Varies

Most of Pres. Newburn's 45-minute appearance was spent in answering questions on subjects ranging from the University Master Plan to lobbying activities in the state legislature. But the question and answer period was prefaced by a 15-minute talk the president gave concerning the new series of meetings.

NASA Officials Announce Ranger 5 Lift-Off Tentatively Scheduled Today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The space agency announced yesterday that Ranger 5 is tentatively scheduled to lift off on its exploratory voyage to the moon sometime after 11 o'clock this morning (EST), if Hurricane Ella continues her present course.

The shot must go off by mid-afternoon tomorrow or be canceled until about Nov. 13. Celestial geometry moves the moon into position for the favorable shot only four days of each month.

U.S. Planes Make Strikes at Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government planes made air strikes within sight of the capital yesterday after Communist forces blew up two government armored railway cars in an ambush 90 miles east of Saigon.

Diplomats Rebuff Russian Threats

MOSCOW (AP)—Diplomatic sources indicated yesterday they see nothing in recent Soviet actions or statements suggesting Premier Khrushchev would precipitate a Berlin crisis immediately after the November elections in the United States.

The reports circulated after the noncommittal communique circulated Tuesday about the three-hour conversation between Khrushchev and the new U. S. ambassador, Foy D. Kohler.

The communique said the talks were frank and mutually understanding. That phrase began taking on new significance as diplomats discussed the talk and the talks arranged for today in the White House.

Morocco Wins UN Council Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly elected Morocco to a seat on the UN Security Council over Nigeria yesterday, and thus turned back a bid by African nations to kill the 1946 "gentleman's agreement" on allocation of seats.

The decisive vote on the second ballot was 73 to 35—one more than the required two-thirds majority. Morocco was elected to succeed the United Arab Republic, thus upholding the tradition that an Arab or Middle East country should retain the council seat at issue.

On the first ballot Morocco won 57 and Nigeria 30 votes with several other countries receiving scattered support. Under assembly rules the second ballot is restricted to the two main contenders.

Ben Bella, Castro Agree on Bases

HAVANA (AP)—Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro agreed yesterday that all foreign troops and military bases—including the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, Cuba—must be removed.

An attempt must be made to get a variety of students participating in the discussions and to make provisions to explore some topics in depth, Pres. Newburn noted.

"I don't think we ought to force it," he said, explaining that meetings of this type are good only as long as there is a desire for the meetings and for information.

Many Questions Asked

But, judging from the number of questions asked, this desire for information was prevalent last night.

Much of the discussion centered around the University Master Plan, parts of which were approved by the State Board of Regents Oct. 8.

One of the big decisions of the board was not to close any of the six units in the University System.

"The facts would indicate that we are going to have enough people to educate to justify six units," Pres. Newburn explained. He said there is a practical advantage to this number of units in a state as large as Montana.

Mainly Liberal Arts

Also settled—at least for the present—is Montana State University's position as the only primarily liberal arts school in the state. Pres. Newburn said there is still some uncertainty about the future expansion of liberal arts in other institutions.

He made it clear that he felt the state should concentrate on making the liberal arts program at MSU a top quality one, rather than spreading several less-effective liberal arts programs throughout the University System.

"We ought to do well what we do," he said.

Leaders Agree On Berlin Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder of West Germany conferred with Pres. Kennedy for 90 minutes yesterday and announced afterward "full and complete agreement" on meeting any new Soviet move to drive the West out of Berlin.

But there were grave doubts among both U.S. and German informants that the two nations had produced any formula bridging the gap in their thinking.

JFK Abolishes Oath Requirement

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed legislation yesterday abolishing the non-Communist oath as a condition for government loans to students. He said he was glad to do it.

Previously, any scientist, teacher or student applying for a loan or grant had to sign an oath declaring he neither believed in, belonged to nor supported any organization that taught or believed in overthrow of the government by force or illegal means.

Tropical Storm Pelts East Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The season's fifth tropical storm—Ella—became a hurricane yesterday and its rising winds whirled approximately toward the North Carolina Capes, 360 miles to the north, at 10 miles per hours.

Hear Ye

We had stopped by the Kaimin office to pick up a pillow and a couple magazines before heading over to Central Board meeting last night. We then walked to the Lodge and up into the Silver Bow Room, sat down and awaited our chance to doze off into our regular Wednesday evening nap.

But much to everyone's pleasure, Central Board justified its existence and allowed no one, not even the members, to slumber. Pres. Newburn had accepted Pres. Whitelaw's invitation to come and speak to Central Board, his first appearance there of its kind.

Precedent of Precedents

Pres. Newburn's invitation was given as part of a brand new concept in inter-campus communications. The new deal: Pres. Newburn will spend less time in his office and more time talking to interested individuals and groups of students.

Parties concerned hope this change in attitude on the Administration's part will accomplish two major objectives:

(1) Avoid misunderstanding of issues concerning this University, especially when it directly concerns students. Perhaps the prime incentive for this move is exemplified by occurrences last spring quarter when the faculty resignation issue became lost and confused in the din of outraged students and tight-lipped administrators.

(2) Bring faculty, students and administrators more closely together in an effort to combine arms, so to speak, and work together on University projects. As it has been until now, those three factions have worked on divergent axes and have come to no exceptional ends.

If the monthly meetings with Pres. Newburn (or an occasional representative of his) scheduled by Pres. Whitelaw are consistent, then the Kaimin sees only progress to be made.

"Knowledge and Understanding"

In a sincere and earnest manner, Pres. Newburn spoke for several minutes and then answered questions from the floor. Students brought up various matters about which the president provided enlightening information and perspective. The group discussed faculty conditions, Master Plan, funds for the library, lobbying at the state legislature, etc. And most who left after the meeting went knowing more than they did before.

Perhaps the best way to summarize the meeting is to use Pres. Newburn's own words: "I've enjoyed this, and I think it's the way to seek for knowledge and understanding..." And should these gatherings become what they are designed to be, the president's words are those of the Kaimin.

Incidentally, Pres. Whitelaw, recognizing the necessity of avoiding ambiguity in matters of this sort, has issued an informal request for a title to put on these meetings; i.e. what should these meetings be called?

The Kaimin suggests he use one of the following: Getting Down to Brass Tacks Night, or Home Folks at Home Council, or Symposium of Searchers, or Sons of Plato, or something.

Other suggestions may be sent to Pres. Whitelaw's office.

Student Editor at Colorado U Dismissed by President Newton

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The student editor of the Colorado

Daily, University of Colorado newspaper, was dismissed from his post yesterday by Quigg Newton, university president.

Newton said he acted "in what I believe is the best interests of the university."

The fired editor, Gary Althen, 21, a senior of Wheat Ridge, Colo., replied, "I'm not sure that this is in the best interests of the university."

Althen, whose status as a student is not affected, expressed surprise "that Pres. Newton has acted against the will of the student body, the Board of Publications, the Faculty Senate and the Board of Regents."

Controversy was focused on the newspaper by two attacks on Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and former President Eisenhower. Both were made in articles written for the paper by Carl Mitcham, a Dallas senior.

Both Newton and Althen wired apologies to Goldwater, after which the senator and Newton exchanged heated letters over administration practices at the school.

Newton also announced yesterday he has appointed three additional members to the publications board, increasing its membership to nine.

Newburn Reviews Problems...

Need for additional space in the library was discussed, however, the president said the possibility of getting funds for an addition are relatively slim during the next session of the legislature.

"We're going to have to work hard to get any kind of building, the funds for which must come from the legislature," he added.

Plant Addition Seen

However, he assumes that there must be an addition to the physical plant of the library within the next five years.

If the University Budget is approved as it has been submitted to the budget director, there will be basically no improvement in fringe benefits to faculty members, Pres. Newburn said. Fringe benefits refer to such expenditures as travel allowances and for convention expenses.

And Pres. Newburn said he guessed—and he stressed that it was just a guess—that the budget which has been proposed to the state budget director will be the same one that Gov. Tim Babcock presents to the state legislature in January.

"I feel very optimistic about the budget moving through as it is," he said.

Capacity of Adviser

Pres. Newburn said that his capacity when the legislature is debating the budget is one of an adviser. He appears in the capital only when asked by a committee or individuals to discuss the budget, he said.

One problem that could arise in the University system is that so many multi-purpose schools could be developed that all would be of inferior quality, the president said.

"I think the danger in all states is not so much in the number of institutions as in what they do. And there is always the danger that all the institutions will want to become universities—the university," he said.

Ed Whitelaw, ASMSU President, explained that it is hoped student-administration meetings can be held monthly.

In addition, at least one convocation will be held a quarter, and campus organizations will be encouraged to have Pres. Newburn address them.

CB Business

In Central Board business, the referendum on the new student union building was set tentatively for Dec. 4.

If an architect is appointed by the Governor this week, complete plans should be ready by Nov. 15, Whitelaw said.

The resignation of Bev Simpson as Publications Committee chairman was read. Applications are now being accepted for this position, for chairman of the "M" Book committee, and for positions on other ASMSU committees.

A special allocation of $400 for Parents' Day was approved. With the balance of about $333 in the fund, a total of $733 will be available for the activities.

The appointments of Anne McKie to Planning Board, Gib Clark to the student loan board, and David "Spike" Fuller to the personnel committee were announced.

A profit of $2,038.02 on the Louis Armstrong concert was reported by Marshall Dennis, chairman of the Special Events Committee.

Fugue and Prelude

By WILBUR WOOD

Eldon Fortie is BYU's one-man football offense and has Grizzly coaches concerned about just what MSU is going to do to stop the little speedster this Saturday.

Fortie weighs only 167 pounds, but he has managed, in five games, to gain a total of 1,097 yards passing and running. He had a tough game last weekend, MSU line coach Milt Schwenk said. He gained only 212 yards.

In national statistics Fortie ranks first in total offensive yardage, second in passing, and third in scoring. All this on a team that has a 1-4 record.

Montana is supposed to lose to the Cougars, despite the fact that we've won our last two. One good reason to believe that this underdog rating is not entirely out of line is the fact that our pass defense leaves to be desired about all that a coach can desire.

Weber College, which gets its first senior class next fall, threw only freshmen, sophomores and juniors against us. The Wildcats also threw 29 passes against us and connected on 16. Weber does not have a nationally ranked passer such as Fortie.

Our big bear, Coach Ray Jenkins, finally admitted the other day that he could not figure out what is wrong with our pass defense. He moans, "Two years ago Montana led the Skyline Conference and was second in the nation in pass defense."

With some of the same back-field personnel the Grizzlies had in 1960 still around, it is had to figure how the team could drop so rapidly in this department. One reason is the loss of the late, departed, great, jack-of-all-sports and master-of-all Bob O'Billovich, whose influence could steady a high school 'B' squad playing the Green Bay Packers. (No analogy with our team intended.)

Despite our deficiencies in the anti-air attack category, the Grizzlies are a good group. We have a fine quarterback, a fine inside-outside combination, a determined line that gratifyingly will outweigh BYU's, and more spirit than in past years.

Terry Dillon is undoubtedly one of the finest football players in the country. His statistics are not as impressive as Fortie's, but he doesn't run or pass the ball 80 per cent of the time either. The Silvertips have a better-balanced offense, with four fine backs (providing Pat Dodson is up and around by Saturday. Dillon runs, passes, punts, receives, and kicks as well as anybody.

He also plays a hard game of defense. One might note that two of the Weber passes that MSU did break up were broken up by Terry.

MSU lost a 230-pound sophomore tackle named Jim Whipple this week, when the big fellow turned in his suit. We have heard many sides to the tale, and we prefer to let them all remain unprinted, since we are not too certain that any of them are completely true.

Whipple leaves the Grizzlies at a bad time. He is the fourth player to quit or otherwise leave the team this season. Add to his departure the probable loss of some injured men for the BYU game, and we find that Ray Jenkins will be scraping to suit up 33 men.

Lack of depth has always been one of MSU's problems. We hope that this season's freshman squad will remain reasonably intact and return next year to bolster the Grizzlies. In past years the big problem with frosh footballers has been that many of them flunked out of school.

On the flunking-out topic, Milt Schwenk says that most of the frosh team have good high school scholastic records. But, he hastens to add, this has been true in the past, too, and players have still gone down, flags flying.

If the nice weather holds up, it should be a perfect day for football Saturday. The attendance at the Weber game was disappointing, but somewhat expected. Brigham Young should prove an exciting foe, with Fortie's tricky pass-run option plays.

So we can't help but recommend that you come out to the game Saturday, the last home game until MSC comes dragging its tail behind it into Missoula Nov. 10 (It's Bozeman's turn to ride the fun train.)

We sense slight upsurges in school spirit (isn't that the term?), as manifested by bigger football crowds, noisier Kams and Dregs, and a Grizzly Growler group that is struggling to get going.

Now that the Kams and Dregs seem destined to become more than an early-morning drinking honorary, we couldn't be gladder. The white-shirted crew could add a lot to the scene around here. Good old-fashioned rah-rah enthusiasm is fun, if tempered by a bit of propriety. And—despite the Ivy League influence—it is still in style.

Grizzlies Must Stop Fortie, Ground Aerials to Beat BYU

The Grizzlies will be out to avenge two consecutive 7-6 heartbreakers at the hands of the Brigham Young University Cougars in the annual Dads' Day game here Saturday.

The Cougars will carry a 1-4 record into the contest against the Grizzlies' 2-3 mark. Milt Schwenk, line coach, said that the Cougars' record is a poor indication of the team's strength.

The Cougars have tailback Eldon Fortie, the nation's top offensive player. Fortie has gained 1,097 total yards in five games this year. The whole Grizzly offense gained 1,909 yards all last year.

The 165-pound senior might easily be the best athlete that Missoula sports fans have ever watched play in Missoula, according to Schwenk.

Fortie is a good passer. This may trouble Grizzly pass defense, which has had its troubles in the last few games. Head Coach Ray Jenkins said that it "might easily

The line-ups for Saturday will be:

Montana: LE—Bill Bouchee, RE—Chris Pomajevich, RT—Fred Calder, LT—Carl Schwertfeger, RG—Gerald Luchau, LG—Brent Russell, C—Tom Hauck, QB, Paul Miller, RHB—Dick Miller, LHB—Terry Dillon and FB—Ron Werba.

BYU: LE—Lloyd Smith, LT—John Kawaa, LG—Jay Vesterfelt, C—Mike Brady, RG—Roger DuPaix, RT—Devon Stone, RE—Glen Richardson, QB—Dick Darling, RHB—Alan Robinson, LHB—Eldon Fortie and FB—John Malarsie.

It is doubtful that Pat Dodson, who received a slight concussion in last Saturday's game, will see any action, Schwenk said.
